A Model Large Church.

"These are cold facts; but cold facts often represent warm work, and lots of it is done in the First Church, and I wish to speak of it as not in any manner detracting from the good work of the other churches of our conference, but as a model large church; *************** large in numbers, but being so completely officered, not unwieldy: its membership in-tensely loyal to its pastor and assistant pastor; its many societies working energeti-cally on their own lines, yet fully in touch, and all closely united and working together and all closely united and working together as one great whole. With many others I have been of the opinion that when city churches become large and strong they should swarm and send out some of their best material to lay the foundation for Christian work in other sections, and this may be the proper thing generally, but I confess to a radical change of opinion on this point in case of the First Church; this is our church of the capital of our country; the mecca of visiting Congregationalists from all over the land; the representative of the mecca of visiting congregationalists from all over the land; the representative of the many struggles, the efforts, the life, the success of Congregationalism in the city of Washington. Then let it stand for what it is-a great, strong, representative church full of good works. I am proud of it; proud of being of its first membership; proud of having a humble share in its early struggles and later successes; proud of its being the mother of all our churches of this vicinity, and never so proud of being a Congressity and never so proud of being a Congressity. gationalist as when worshiping in its great auditorium with so much that is inspiring

Other Progressive Churches.

"The Mount Pleasant Church is free from debt and in the best of condition, and could not well be otherwise with its strong force of active men and women and young people. The church building is spic, span, clean, and with a new carpet just put down by the Ladies' Aid Society, looks as neat as a new ship, trig and trim from stem to stern. Thirteen members have been added since the last conference. The home Sun-day school is larger than ever before, and the mission school in the sunthe mission school is increasing in numbers and in prosperity. The Junior Society of Christian Endeavor of seventy members has raised $40 for missions since October 12. The Woman's Missionary Society is not only doing good work in raising money, but in quickening an interest in the cause of missions. The little church paper, The Messenger, is published semi-monthly, and furnishes a handy reference as to meetings and church work generally. During the week of prayer the church held a union service when some of the pastors and mem-bers of our churches experienced a slight touch of fellowship, sufficiently warm, however, to indicate what might be enjoyed in this direction if, as churches, we could get together in larger numbers and oftener.

"The People's Congregational Church is doing as well as could be expected, being handicapped by having to worship in a rented hall and having the use of it only rented hall and having the use of it only one evening in the week, thus being prevented from enjoying a series of meetings or making the most of Christian fellowship by the often assembling of themselves together. The church now numbers about 400, with a Sunday school and a society of Christian Endeavor. They have thus far kept up their expenses, and are making regular contributions to their church lot and prospective building. and prospective building.
"The Plymouth Church, as usual, is doing good service—never better—larger church attendance than ever, and more of the ing a series of revival meetings, assisted by Mr. James Wharton, an English evangelist. The meetings have been of interest, and have resulted in about fifty conversions. Ten of these, thus far only, have united with the church. Most of the converts being of the faulties of other physics and the faulties of the faulties of other physics and the faulties of the faulties of other physics and the faulties of the faulties of other physics and the faulties of the faulties of other physics and the faulties of the faulties of other physics and the faulties of ing of the families of other churches, will, naturally, go elsewhere. The pastor and Mr. Wharton have also conducted meetings at Howard University with success, every evening witnessing a conversion.

Active Working Churches. "Lincoln Memorial Church has found worthy successor to Rev. D. W. Moore in the person of the present pastor, Rev. Mr. Johnson, and under his care the church in all its connections never was more prosperous. The church building is in good repair, the main audience room especially be-ing convenient, well appointed and attrac-tive, and the other rooms comfortable and well adapted to their uses. The prayer meetings have been well attended, and much religious interest has been manifested. The attendance on the preaching services has been constantly growing, and there has not been a month since Mr. Johnson commenced his work that one or more souls have not been led to confess Christ, stall Rev. Edward Tallmadge Root as pastor of the Second Congregational Church of Baltimore convened at that church this morning.

The Sunday school has improved in efficiency, and its average attendance has steadily increased.

"The temperance and missionary societies and the senior and junior Endeavorers have held regular meetings and been active in Christian work. There has been a notice-able growth in systematic giving, which is not only helpful, but hopeful, as one of the signs of real progress. The singing of the Endeavor Society of this church is remarkable for zeal and talent. "The Fifth Congregational Church, al though without a settled paster since the resignation of Rev. B. M. Seymour, has maintained regular Sunday services and maintained regular Sunday Services and full work along its regular lines. The present membership is seventy-nine. During the past year about $2,300 has been raised the past year about $2,300 has been raised the past year about $2,300 has been raised the past year about $2,000 has amount $2,600 was expended. Of this amount $861 was for improvements in the lecture room and to the building society. Three hundred and fifty dollars went for benevolences, and the balance to the pastor's salary and other expenses. The Senior and Junior Christian Endeavor Societies number about 165; officers, teachers and pupils enrolled in the Sunday school, 238; average attendance, 155; additions to the school during the year, 49; contributions, $158.96. The church, through Deacon Jennings, requests the prayers of the conference that the great head of the church will speedily send them a strong consecrated man as a pastor.

"The Tabernacle deserves a good account. It can be truthfully said that the Tabernacle is in a better condition and more hopeful state than at any time since it came into existence as a Congregational church. The present pastorate, of some-thing over three years, has been longer than any in its history, and during this time some sixty members have been dismissed, leaving but thirteen on the rolls who were there when Mr. Jones took charge, and over sixty have been added. The result of these changes is the re-moval of the disturbing elements and the healing of all differences, so the present membership of some seventy-five constitutes a thoroughly united band of working Christians, loyal to their church and pastor. During the past year from some sixty contributors $2,800 has been raised and expended, which, no doubt, represents sacrifice in sustaining the work of the church. That the field is a hard one, and the work carried on under many disadvantages, there can be no question, and the measure of success so far is largely due to the sticking qualities of pastor and people in the face of discouragement. We must remember, though, and take heart from it, that Christian character is built up by just such un-toward circumstances, and that churches, as persons, are sometimes saved as by fire believe that the Tabernacle has come through the fire purified.'

There 2d street northwest between B and C streets 2d street northwest between B and C streets was no dispute upon this point, but the and not many weeks ago he made the acquaintance of Charles Lease, the proprietor to have been limited to a select few, for quaintance of Charles Lease, the proprietor of a Pennsylvania avenue shooting gallery so he says. When the corner of 14th and Corcoran streets was reached Mrs. Lease and her sister stopped, and there was nothing for the private detective to do but to proceed along the sidewalk. He had not proceeded far, however, when he learned to his sor-row that Mrs. McGill was a self-appointed officer of the law and he was her prisoner Right there on the sidewalk she charged that he had been acting as a spy and told him he need not deny it for she had witnesses to prove the truth of her accusation. And the poor detective, nearly frightened to death, did not deny it, although he declined to state the name of his employer. He was escorted to the lady's house and there detained until the arrival of Policeman Thompson. Then he was escorted to the eighth precinct station, where he was given an iron bed on which to sleep and some Potomac water to drink. Felt Hungry This Morning.

When he arrived at the Police Court this morning he complained that he was hungry and his experience, he said, had taught him that he had better return to the painting business at which he had worked. Before Judge Kimball he was arraigned on a charge of being a suspicious person, without visible means of support. The testimony of the prosecuting witnesses was enough to convince the court of the guilt of enough to convince the court of the guilt of the prisoner, and Propst, who had figured as "Old Sleuth," was called upon for an explanation. He admitted the facts stated, but declined to tell who had employed him until ordered to do so by the court, and then it was that he gave the name of Charles Leage. Charles Legse. Kimbail informed the young man that he had better engage in some other business if he wanted to enjoy his liberty, and sentenced him to give real estate se-curity in the sum of $50 or go down for sixty days. He stepped back.

Speeches Made in the Senate During Its Executive Session.

Mr. Hill Seconds the Nomination and Refers to the Unfortunate Contest-Chief Justice Fuller Pleased.

In the executive session of the Senate yesterday afternoon, at which the nomination of Senator White to be justice of the Supreme Court was confirmed, as stated in The Star, there was a succession of eulogistic speeches. Senator Caffrey gave an interesting sketch of Senator White's life. and spoke in the highest terms of the nominee; Senator Pugh told how much it pleased him to see Senator White's name sent in, and Senator Teller varied the complimentary strain by adding that he was glad that the Senate had shown the President its independence by rejecting the two previous nominations, and had also demonstrated that the Senators had their opinions, honestly entertained and as honestly

Mr. Hill's Remarks.

Senator Hill said: "I rise for the purpose of seconding the motion of the distinguished chairman of the judiciary committee. Representing, as I do, in part, the circuit ford, and to fill which the nomination just reported has been presented to this body for its consideration, a few suggestions on my part at this time may not be inappropriate. Permit me to remark at the outcircle knows and respects him. He is not without judicial experience, having, for two do the best it can under the circumstance I most cheerfully acquiesce, it is, perhaps, equally true that the people of New York, in their local pride, will regret that the President did not see fit to make a satis-factory appointment from the hundreds of to be uniformed, and that is partly the competent lawyers and distinguished jurists in that great state, whose nomination would have provoked no opposition whatever and forty judges of the supreme court of New York state or any one of the present fed-

"I do not propose on this occasion to add Mr. Lease hired him to follow his wife, Mrs. a single unpleasant remark to the unfortu-Carrie Lease, as he wanted to learn, if pos- nate contest which has occupied our attention for the past six weeks over the two A. neminations which the majority of the Senate regarded as unsuitable and objection-Mrs. McGill, her sister, and during the even-ing they went out together. John followed I urged in successful opposition to their con-I urged in successful opposition to their confirmation. These contests have passed into history-there let them be judged. I believe that the state of New York was entitled to the judgeship, and had the Senators from that state been consulted, as they properly should have been and as courtesy and usage required, a satisfactory selection from the numerous eminent members of the bar of my state could have easily been made. You well know that the Senators from New York had no candidates of their own. Their action was not influenced by disappointment. They pressed no favorites of theirs upon the attention of the appointing power, but whatever action they took was impelled by their self-respect, and their loyalty to the people's interest which they represented, and to the regular democratic organization to which they belonged.

"The President in the exercise of the sole discretion which the Constitution vests in him has seen fit to go outside of New York and outside of the circuit where the vacancy occurred, and has honored the Senate by the appointment of one of its distinguished members from the far distant state of Louimembers from the far distant state of Louisiana, and while this action may, perhaps, justly be regarded as a slight to New York and to our circuit or a reflection upon its distinguished judiciary, any member of which would have adorned the highest federal court, yet we may congratulate our eral court, yet we may congratulate our-selves that so admirable a selection has been made, and reflect that after all the question of locality or residence is a matter of little consequence compared with the other considerations involved in the choice for so exalted a station. I am entirely satisfied with the present outcome. It is with pleasure, therefore, that I express my de-sire that this nomination should be con-firmed at once."

The Chief Justice Pleased.

Chief Justice Fuller was at the State De of the nomination and confirmation of Senator White reached him. The chief justice was very much pleased, both at the charpect that when the Supreme Court meets again, on the 5th of March, it will be with a full bench, thus enabling that tribunal to pass upon some very important cases, which have been held in abeyance in order that their decisions should have the weight of the recorded opinions of all of the justices. The chief justice said of the appointment: "I am very glad. Mr. White is an excellent "I am very glad. Mr. White is an excellent lawyer, and he will be a valuable acquisi-tion to the supreme bench, particularly be-cause of his intimate knowledge of the civil code, or what is known as the code Napoeon, constructions of which are frequently called for in a certain class of cases arising in the states originally included in the limits of the Louisiana purchase. Our main reliance in the past for information on such points was in Justice Bradley, and we shall welcome Justice White particularly on ac-count of his ability in that line and, of course, on account of his excellent charac-ter legally and socially."

An Aristocratic Complaint. It was a vulgar tradition, now exploded, that Gout was the legacy of blue blood. Gout may be troops on both sides were killed and acquired as well as transmitted. Those who have started with a tendency to make fat aggravate matters by daily consuming rich gravies and drinking a bottle of port must expect an unplewant twinge or two in one or both of the big toes. But, alas: there is, too, the Poor Man's Gout—the Gout which is the result of not having enough of proper food, or a daily continuance of improper food. Such are the freaks of Nature. Increased an Important Fund. There were enough attractions at the entertainment given last night in the lecture hall of the Columbian University for the benefit of the University Athletic Club to have crowded the house, had the public but known what was going on. As it was there were enough present to put a snug little sum into the purse of the new organization for the uniforming of the base ball of Chicago, two of which had been its bulteam and the fact of the start of the association was made known to those who will surely spread the news. The hall was handsomely decorated with flags of all nations.

somely decorated with flags of all nations, and the stage usually occupied by spectacled lecturers upon such frivolous topics as "torts" and "easements" and the like was cleared for the use of the muses.

The program was started at 8 o'clock amid the eneers of half a hundrei "Preps." in the gallery, who took a vociferous interest in everything. The University Banjo Club filed out to the platform, arranged themselves politely and gracefully about a very pretty girl, dressed all in white, with a Greek tone to her costume, who played an instrument of the banjo family. "Clint McClarty" was the rollicking tune 'Clint McClarty" was the rollicking tune that came twanging from the banjos and their cousins, the guitars. Next Mr. Fergerson of the Y. M. C. A. Athletic Association gave an artistic exhibition of Indian club swinging.

Then followed a novel and interesting feature of the evening's program. The hall was darkened, and a bright shaft of calcium light was thrown on the stage, which was furnished with what at first looked was furnished with what at first looked like a misplaced tombstone. It proved, however, to be a pedestal, on which Miss Vardelle Walsh, clad in a beautiful gown of white silk, gave some artistic poses, entitled "Emotional Studies," arranged by Mr. S. R. Kelley. Next, three members of the Y. M. C. A., Messrs. Sheridan, Smith and Trott, gave a clever exhibition of work and Trott, gave a clever exhibition of work on the parallel bars, and then the pretty girl who sat in the middle of the front row of banjoists proved to be Miss Morrison and daintly performed on the banjo, for it was she who appeared and played a lively medley on her improved edition of the old-fashioned instrument. The first part of the entertainment was concluded with recitation by Mr. Barry Buckley, who ave "How He Saved St. Michael's" in his best style. A Gymnasium Needed.

During the intermission Prof. John Chickering, principal of the preparatory school, made a brief speech about the objects and in which the vacancy exists, caused by the prospects of the association. "We are trydeath of the late lamented Judge Blatch- ing to start," he said, "and although we have an organization it is only a beginning. This is a large university, and it has huadreds of students. The faculty are in thorough accord and sympathy with the idea of the physical development as well priate. Permit me to remark at the outset that this nomination, from a personal point of view, is entirely unobjectionable. The nominee is able, experienced, and satisfactory. He is personally offensive to no one. He has not been involved in any factional dissensions and he possesses the contidence of the democratic party of his state. tional dissensions and he possesses the confidence of the democratic party of his state, to which he is proud to belong. He has not antagonized any regular democratic organization, and every Senator around this circle knows and respects him. He is not without judicial experience, having, for two years, creditably served upon the bench of the supreme court of Louisiana, and his selection will prove acceptable to the bar of the United States and to the people.

"While it is true that Judge White's selection is most admirable and one in which I most cheerfully acquiesce, it is, perhaps. enough body to support their fact-crammed heads. "There is plenty of good material for a reason why this entertainment is We can also have a foot ball eleven in the who would have adorned and honored the highest court in the land. It may be asserted as a fact that almost any one of the c. Before I close I want to say that the thanks of the association and the audience are due to Mr. J. S. Pendieton, who has done the lion's share of the work." Mr. Chickering was followed on the stage by Messrs. Gauf, Cramer, Henley and Pomeroy, who sang "O, Promise Me." Mr. Hay next gave "I Have a Secret Sorrow Here' in his great fashion, and was then forced to tell a story about how Brother Horace converted 'Mericy from the ever getting relief, as I had tried several of the young men then did some tumbling, and the University Mandolin Club gave "Bella Mazurka" neatly. Mr. Chas. Baker did a solo on the autoharp, and Miss Walsh followed with a recitation of "Waltz of Von Weber," to a musical accompaniment, following this with "When First I Met Sweet Peggy" as an encore.

The entertainment was concluded by the performance of the "Dark Town Patrol" by the Banjo Club.

NEWS-GATHERING PERFECTED.

A Delightful Entertainment Which The Inevitable Result of the Associnted Press System.

The Boston Traveller yesterday afternoon said editorially: The continual desertion from the ranks of the United Press by leading newspapers throughout the country has left that institution with a very small clientage. The Traveller recounted, a few days ago, how it had lost four of the leading papers wark of strength in the west. Since it has lost the Cincinnati Commercial and Cincinnati Enquirer, the two leading newspapers of Ohio, and now the Louisville Courier Journal, which next to the Chicago Herald was its greatest strength in the Mississippi valley, has deserted the sinking ship, and it, too, has joined the Associated Press.

This leaves the United Press without a single representative newspaper west of New York state. In fact, its membership is now confined almost entirely to the cities of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. In the last named city it has but two of the twelve prominent papers. Within the past week four New England papers have left the United Press to bepapers have left the United Press to be-come members of the Associated Press, and others will follow within a few days. In-deed, it would not surprise us if the Bos-ton papers would be tumbling over them-selves inside of ten days in their efforts to serves inside of ten days in their efforts to secure membership in the newsgathering organization the Associated Press.

The Associated Press is what its name implies. It is an association formed upon the mutual benefit plan for the collecting and distributing of news. It is not alone national in its scope, it is international and there is not a point upon the globe which is not reached by its agents. The Traveller knows full well the benefit of belonging to such an organization, and needs no better commendation than to proudly point to its news columns since the change was made, and show the superior excellence of the telegraph service to that

At the annual meeting of the Associated Press in Chicago, on Wednesday last, with the exception of the three cities above mentioned, there was scarcely a paper of prominence in the country but what was represented in the assemblage. The interchange of news between all these change of news between all these papers cannot but result in mutual good and in a perfected newsgathering service superior to anything ever before known in this country.

MUNYON'S SYSTEM INDORSED.

Washington's Well-Known Citizens Praise Dr. Munyou's Remedies.

Dr. Munyon Proves Beyond a Doubt That His Medicines Cure, Even After the Best Medical Talent Has Failed.

The wonderful success which Munyon's Homeo pathic Remedy Company are having in this city proves beyond a doubt the efficiency of Munyon's Remedies. Their offices are daily filled with people. This company is especially successful in treating such diseases as catarrh in its worst form, rheumatism, no matter bow long standing: dyspepsia, kidney, liver troubles, all forms of nervous diseases, coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and all diseases of throat and lungs; also all diseases peculiar to women.

The following is one of many similar from a well-known citizen who was cured of rheumatism. He, as well as almost every one else that knew him, considers his case little less than a miracle: James H. Tully, residing at 732 12th street northwest, who has been employed in the Treasury Department for a long time, and a well-known citizen, says: "I suffered from rheumatten for over thirty years; there was not a day that I did known, but got no benefit. I was prevalled upon to try did so, and in a few days I was completely have never had a pain since. Any one wishin any further proof can call upon me personally and see for themselves. I consider Munyon's Rhen matism Care the most wonderful medicine in the world for rheumattsm."

A severe case of entarrh that builled physicians' skill and was readily cured by Munyon's system.

J. W. Jones, residing at 643 11th street north-east, says: "I suffered from catarrh for seventeen years. I had to be continually backing and spliting, and in the morning I would often become sick at my stomach from the mucus that come from my head and throat. I had continual ringing in my ears and at times my head would ache so that I felt I could not stand it. If I stooped it would feel as though it would burst; I lost my appetite, and in consequence lost considerable weight, and when I got up in the morning I felt worse than when I went to bed. In fact, I was a complete wreck. I tried several doctors and or no relief. Finally when Dr. Munyon opened an office here I consulted the catarrhal specialist and I am happy to say that after a short course cured." Dr. Munyon has opened permanent offices at 1333 G street northwest, this city, where every one, no matter who or how many, is welcome to consultation, examination and advice absolutely free of charge. There is not the least oblimatter how many physicians have failed to help you a visit to these physicians will convince you of their skill in curing you and may save you years of misery and a premature grave.
